Smartphones are getting smarter all the time, and for residents of Maple Ridge Community Management (MRCM) condominium properties, they're about to get smarter still. MRCM is installing new software at its 100-plus communities in Ontario that will offer residents the ability to place maintenance requests, send instructions to doormen, download documents and more. "Maple Ridge Community Management is proud to be offering this state-of-the-art tool for seamless communication for our residents, and this invaluable tool for our property managers," says MRCM president and CEO Michael Le Page. "This new convenience will always be at our residents' fingertips through their smartphone and Android apps." For more information, visit mrcm.ca. National Post
